

Dr. Syed Rizvi is board certified in psychiatry from American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. He is also board-certified in Addiction Medicine from American Board of Medical Specialties.

Dr. Rizvi finished his Residency Training in psychiatry from Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk Virginia in 1999. He served as medical director at Gannon center for community mental health in Dubuque Iowa from 1999 to 2004. Dr. Rizvi served as chief of psychiatry at upper Chesapeake medical center from 2004 to 2012 while working for Sheppard Pratt Health system in Baltimore Maryland. Dr. Rizvi served as associate professor at West Virginia School of Osteopathy while practicing at Frederic Memorial Hospital in Frederic Maryland from 2012 to 2014. Dr. Rizvi is currently serving as a staff psychiatrist at Prince William County community services board. He continues to hold a staff position at Sheppard Pratt Health System.

Dr. Rizvi has vast experience in treating psychiatric patients for a variety of psychiatric conditions. Dr. Rizvi has experience in treating patients on inpatient psychiatric units, on consultation service in the hospital and also in the outpatient setting. Dr. Rizvi has been involved in intensive outpatient programs and also electroconvulsive therapy treatment.

Dr. Rizvi has a passion for evidence-based psychiatric care. Dr. Rizvi utilizes objective measures, psychological testing and tools like genetic testing for medication response routinely in his clinical evaluations and medication management.

Dr. Rizvi takes great pride in his compassion and care for his patients and his principal of putting patient's interest and wellbeing first.